United in Faith and Community

Centered in Christ is our motto. Whether we are wearing hoodies, pajamas, or our formal attire our motto stays the same; we are here to stay centered in Jesus Christ. This time of year is extra exciting, as we look forward to snow days, hope the Groundhog does not see his shadow, learn new things, cheer on the basketball teams, enter the stuffed pet contest, thank our parents, visit or present at the Science Fair, make cards for our priests and other community members, eat special treats, play board games, and show our spirit by wearing Red, White, and Blue. We continue to be a Christ Centered school. We are blessed to share our faith together, learning, praying, and making memories, at Conn-Area Catholic School. We are Centered in Christ!

Look Out! Here they come! The kindergarten has moved into the early Lego edition of Robotics. This program is designed for students' social and emotional development, building language and literacy skills, problem solving in math and science, and creative exploration. Who knows what they will come up with? Have fun learning kids!

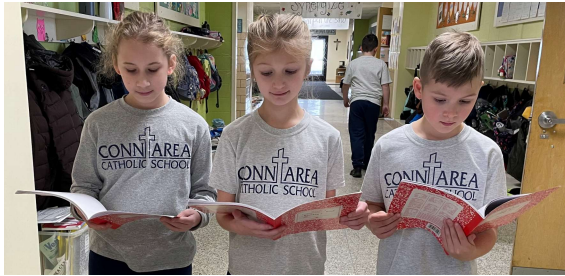

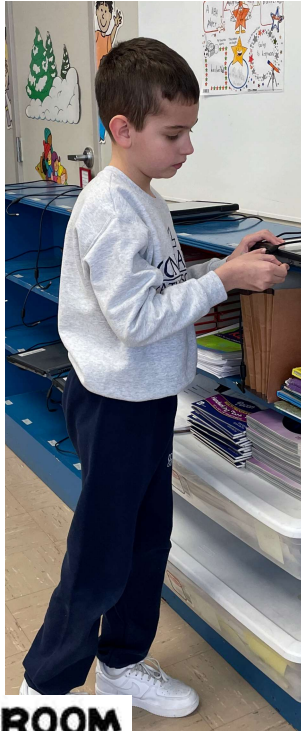

Wow! It is hard to believe we are starting the second half of the school year already. In third grade we have been working hard and learning lots!

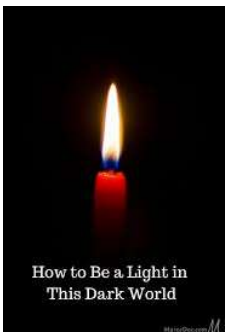

With the start of a new year, both liturgical and calendar, the children are focusing on God who is our light in the darkness. He is beside us in every moment of our lives.

The children are busy working at their leadership jobs. The students are having great fun while learning to be responsible citizens within our Conn-Area Catholic Community.

The class has been working on a creative writing project. They are writing a persuasive letter. Each student wants to persuade Mrs. Solan to let us have an imaginary class pet. We can't wait to see what she thinks of our letters.

In art class, sixth grade students worked hard to create a charcoal drawing of a church. Each student began by finding a picture of a Catholic Church. These included churches found locally along with churches from around the country. Then, they sketched out their church's design. After the churches were drawn, the students used charcoal pencils to add details and shade their churches.

Charcoal techniques have been used to produce art for hundreds of years. By changing the pressure and direction of the pencil when drawing, the students could create different effects in their pictures. They were able to blend or highlight areas to create varying colors and textures. This project enabled the students to try a very popular art medium!
